

The background of the poster is a photograph of the interior of St. George's Church. The view is from the back of the sanctuary looking towards the altar. A large choir of people, many wearing white robes, is performing in the chancel. The architecture is Gothic Revival, featuring a high, vaulted ceiling with intricate woodwork and a large, ornate stained-glass window above the altar. The lighting is warm, with yellow lamps on the walls and a blue light source on the right side. The overall atmosphere is solemn and festive.
